DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: the contacts connectable to the electrical device, the stop latch being constituted by a resilient metal strip, and the wafers.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.84(h)(3) because section / enlargement lines in drawings should refer to the view number of the sectional view where it is shown. Figure 3 should have enlargement section line 4—4. Correction is required.

The drawings are objected to because they have elements shown in cross section which are not properly crosshatched. Insulating members shown in cross section should be properly crosshatched. See for example housing 5. It is brought to applicant's attention that the conventional crosshatch for insulating members shown in cross section consist of lines of two different thicknesses alternatively disposed.

Correction is required.

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference sign not mentioned in the description: 8a, as shown in Fig.2. A proposed drawing correction, corrected drawings, or amendment to the specification to add the reference sign in the description, are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the contacts connectable to the electrical device, as required by claim 2, must be shown or the feature canceled from the claim. No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 2, 3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification does not provide basis not description for "the contacts connectable to the electrical device". Regarding claims 3 and 5, please note that the specification does not describe how "the stop latch is constituted by a resilient metal strip". Additionally, the specification does not identify the "wafers" in the present invention. Accordingly, these features have not been considered as part of the claimed invention.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

In claim 1 lines 7-8, "the other" lacks antecedent basis.

In claims 3 and 5 it is unclear what part of the invention is referred by "it" and "its".

In claim 3 it is unclear what part of the invention "wafers" refer to.

In claim 4 line 2, "said metal strip" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gelati (EP 0,246,199).

Gelati discloses a unit for quick connecting conductors to terminals, comprising: a body (1,1), at least two mechanical devices (2,16) each formed an operative for a quick connection of one to the conductors (5) and a disconnection of the one conductor from each terminal without impairing the other of the mechanical devices and the other conductor. Gelati also discloses the body being provided with means for locating the body in an electrical device, the body having internal walls which delimit areas for locating the mechanical devices, and contacts (10) connectable to the electrical device. Gelati teaches each of the mechanical devices including an operating lever having two identical and independent levers (16,16) symmetrically located with respect to a contact plane and provided with a top flat base, and ending in a rounded lower end (tip of 17) and a stop latch (side of 17); side holes (3) and a lower part. Gelati also teaches a bottom and the metal strip supported on the bottom.

Please note that recitations of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Pallai (US 6,146,187), Roman (US 5,915,991), McLaughlin (US 3,152,851) Beege et al.
